Watercolour Sunray Background Card with Die-Cut Border

EEN PROJECT UIT ONZE LIVESHOW - CREATE AND CRAFT EXCLUSIVE - 31 MAART 2022

OVER DIT PROJECT

Create an abstract watercolour background using the Sunray die as a stencil, then layer it onto a card with a die-cut border. The technique produces a soft, artistic effect with the die creating both a stencilled background and a painted focal point.

TIPS UIT DE SHOW

- Watercolour card gives a better bleed effect than chalky card stock, which drinks ink too quickly.
- White spaces in your design create light and shade, giving the card a more creative appearance.
- Spray card stock lightly with water before die-cutting to help it cut more easily, especially with cotton-content watercolour card.
