

Kaart met houten panelen en verweerde bloem

EEN PROJECT UIT ONZE LIVESHOW - CREATE TOGETHER CLUB - 12 FEBRUARI 2025

OVER DIT PROJECT

Create a rustic greeting card featuring a wooden fence-like panel effect with a distressed, watercoloured flower on top. The layered wood strips in rose gold tones create dimension whilst the blue flower is aged with water and white ink to give a weathered, coastal aesthetic. This card combines stamping, stencilling and distressing techniques for a vintage-inspired finish.

STAP VOOR STAP

STAP 1 VAN 16

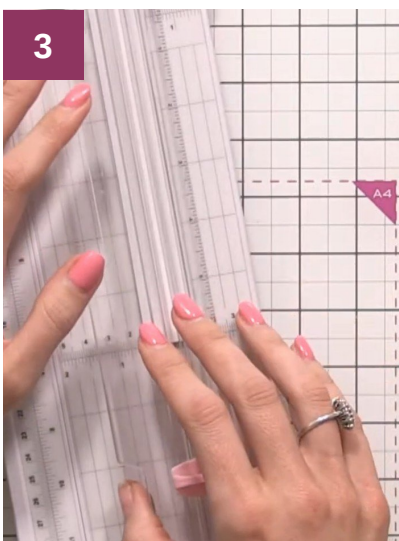

Cut a side-folding card blank in half and score it to create a top-folding note card. Tape the cut piece inside at the top to hide the hinge and reinforce the fold.

STAP 2 VAN 16

Using a paper trimmer, cut the front of your card blank into 1-inch strips, leaving a small section at the top intact to hold the strips together.

STAP 3 VAN 16

Cut white card stock in half to create strips for your wooden panel effect.

BEKIJK DEZE STAP - 15:00

STAP 4 VAN 16

Arrange the cut strips back onto the card front with gaps between them to create a wooden panel effect. Space them unevenly for a natural wood look.

STAP 5 VAN 16

Apply glue along a long strip of white card and place it horizontally across the back of all the vertical strips to connect them together.

STAP 6 VAN 16

Cut your wood-grain patterned paper to size and layer it behind the wooden panel strips, ensuring the paper is visible between each strip.

STAP 7 VAN 16

Use the layering stencil system to build up the flower design. Apply ink through stencil number one with a brush, then swap brushes and colours for stencils two, three, four and five to create a watercolour effect on the panel.

STAP 8 VAN 16

Using the coordinating stamp from the Forever Lilies set and a black ink pad, stamp the flower outline onto the stamped image to add detail and definition to the petals.

STAP 9 VAN 16

Die-cut the stamped and stencilled blue flower using your die-cutting machine.

10

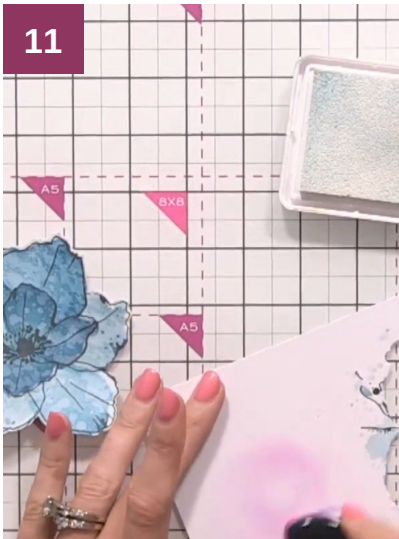

STAP 10 VAN 16

Spritz the blue flower with water to activate the ink. Use a tissue to dab and mop up the water, creating a distressed, aged effect on the petals.

11

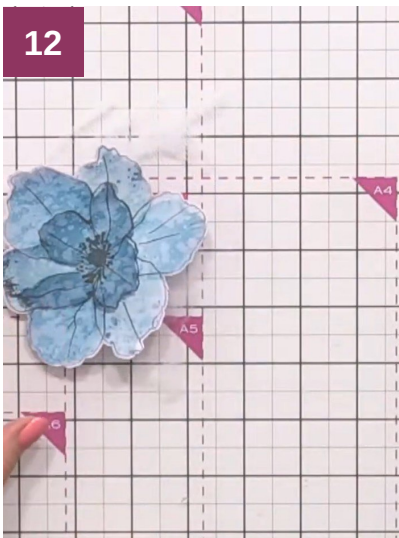

STAP 11 VAN 16

Using a brush or sponge, apply white ink around the edges of the blue flower to create highlights and enhance the weathered appearance.

BEKIJK DEZE STAP - 42:15

12

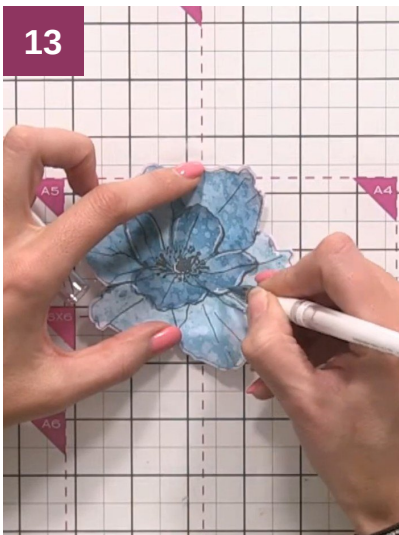

STAP 12 VAN 16

Swipe a dark ink pad across the blue flower in one direction to create a brushed wood effect and add further distressing to the petals.

13

STAP 13 VAN 16

Use a white gel pen to add highlights along the flower petal lines, bringing back detail and definition where needed.

STAP 14 VAN 16

Mount the blue flower onto white card, then layer it onto your wooden panel card front using foam pads for dimension.

STAP 15 VAN 16

Stamp your chosen sentiment onto white card. Add ink blending to the edges of the sentiment panel. Mount the sentiment onto the card front over the wooden panel layers and blue flower.

BEKIJK DEZE STAP - 56:00

STAP 16 VAN 16

Splatter white acrylic paint across the finished card using a wet brush to add final distressed texture. Allow the card to air dry naturally.

TIPS UIT DE SHOW

- Don't worry if the wooden strips aren't perfectly even—an uneven, sporadic arrangement looks more authentic to a natural wood effect.
- If your card feels too lightweight and flops forward, reinforce the wooden strips by gluing multiple pieces together to create thicker, sturdier panels.
- White acrylic paint dries back lighter than it appears wet, so be brave with the colour application; you can always add more splatter for distressed texture.
