

Nested Stencil Frame with Blended Ink and Stamped Edge

EEN PROJECT UIT ONZE LIVESHOW - CREATE AND CRAFT TV - 30 APRIL 2024

OVER DIT PROJECT

Create an elegant layered card featuring a perfectly framed square aperture with blended ink backgrounds in soft pink tones. Use nested stencils taped together to create the frame, then add a beautiful stamped floral design cascading down one side for a professional, sophisticated finish. This technique combines stencilling, ink blending and stamping to achieve a stunning dimensional effect.

STAP VOOR STAP

STAP 1 VAN 5

Tape two nested aperture stencils together to create a thicker frame. Secure them with low-tack tape from the edge, ensuring the apertures are aligned.

STAP 2 VAN 5

Position the taped stencils on your card base and secure with low-tack tape. Ensure the stencils are placed where you want them on the card front before taping down.

STAP 3 VAN 5

Take a dye ink pad in your chosen colour and blend it over the top edge of the aperture to create a soft square frame effect.

STAP 4 VAN 5

Stamp a floral design over the blended edge of the frame, allowing the stamp to cascade down one side. Use the clear stamp positioned to overlap the inked area.

STAP 5 VAN 5

Carefully remove the stencil to reveal the blended ink design with stamped butterfly detail. The nested frame creates a perfectly defined border around your artwork.

TIPS UIT DE SHOW

- Dye ink is malleable and workable, allowing you to blend with water and paint with it for varied effects.
- Taping stencils together makes them easier to control and prevents air pockets.
