

Simple Watercoloured Floral Design with Pen Markers

EEN PROJECT UIT ONZE LIVESHOW - CREATE AND CRAFT TV - 11 MAART 2024

OVER DIT PROJECT

Create a beautiful watercoloured floral design featuring delicate orange blooms with golden foiled outlines. Using watercolour pen markers, you'll add vibrant colour to individual petals on pre-foiled designs, building up soft gradients and depth. This simple technique produces stunning results in minutes, perfect for cards or framed artwork.

5

STAP 5 VAN 8

Using the brush tip of your watercolour marker, apply a small amount of orange pigment to one of the flower petals. Start with light pressure to build up the colour gradually.

6

STAP 6 VAN 8

Dampen a clean brush with water and drag the orange colour outward from the centre to blend and dilute it across the petal, creating a soft gradient effect.

7

STAP 7 VAN 8

Continue adding colour to adjacent petals using different shades of orange and coral. Use the watercolour brush to blend the colours, allowing the gold foil outlines to act as natural boundaries between the petals.

TIPS UIT DE SHOW

- The gold foil will resist the colour, so you can paint freely without worrying about staying within lines.
- It is easier to add more colour than to take it away, so start with a small amount and build up gradually.
- You can use any medium on watercolour card stock—watercolours, pencils, pens, or acrylics—because the foil acts as a resist.
