

White Rose on Black Card with Colour Overlay

16 MARCH 2026

Create a striking rose design on black card by first establishing a white base layer, then adding colour on top. This technique produces a bold, high-contrast image with vibrant colours that pop against the dark background.

From our live show MY PODCAST - Catch my latest updates broadcast 16th March 2026 (16 March 2026) - watch it from 35:15.

WHAT YOU WILL NEED

- Stencil and Die - Rose Branch - 050722C

Gather a piece of black card stock and ensure your stencils are completely clean of any previous ink.

Watch this step: 45:30 into the show

Position stencil number one on the black card, lined up at the edge.

Watch this step: 45:45 into the show

Ink through stencil number one with white ink pad, covering the entire stencil area to create a white base layer.

Watch this step: 46:00 into the show

Apply stencil number two and ink through with white ink, building up the white foundation.

Watch this step: 46:45 into the show

Position stencil number three and ink through with white, ensuring all areas are covered.

Watch this step: 47:15 into the show

Apply stencil number four (the branches) and ink through with white to complete the white skeleton.

Watch this step: 47:45 into the show

Apply stencil number five (the leaves) and ink through with white to establish the full white base.

Watch this step: 48:15 into the show

Once the white base is dry, position stencil number one again and ink through with pink ink pad, tapping gently to apply colour over the white.

TIPS FROM THE SHOW

- The white base layer acts like white card stock, allowing coloured inks to show brightly on the black background.
- On the first coloured layer over white, tap gently rather than blending heavily to preserve the white base underneath.
- You may notice a subtle white halo around the rose petals, which creates a nice drop-shadow effect.
