

Stencil and Mask Wolf Card with Ink Blending

10 NOVEMBER 2025

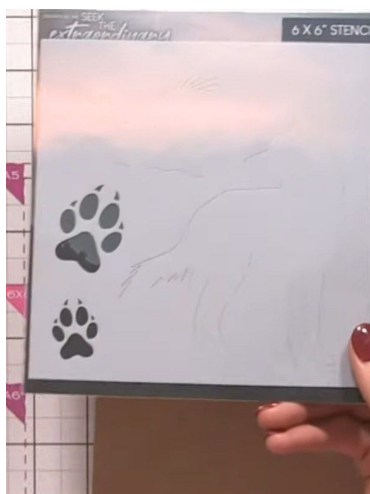

Create a striking layered card featuring a wolf silhouette against an ink-blended forest background. Using stencil and masking techniques with blue ink tones on kraft cardstock, you'll build depth through shadow effects and paw print details. The design is finished with coordinating sentiment stamps for a professional woodland-themed greeting card.

STEP 1

STEP 2

Position the mask over the wolf area on your stencilled paper. Using a blending brush, apply blue ink around the edges of the design to create a shadow effect, working carefully around the masked area.

STEP 3

Remove the mask from the wolf silhouette. Using black ink, add a halo shadow around the edge of the wolf to define it and tie the design together with the forest scene.

STEP 4

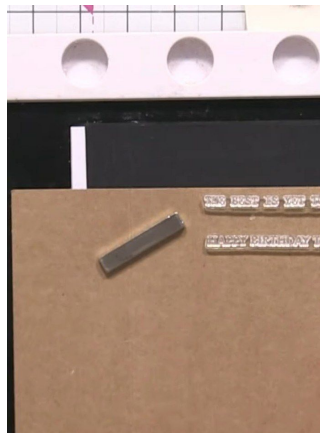

Trim the inked panel down to a smaller size. Edge the panel with black ink using a Distress ink pad to remove the white border and make it stand out.

STEP 5

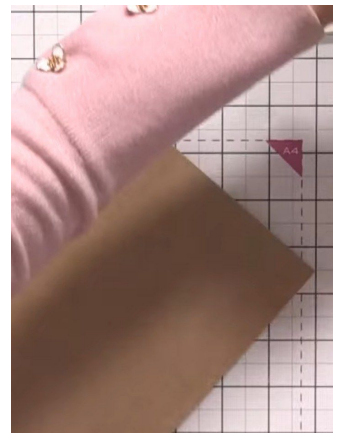

Mount the trimmed panel onto a kraft-coloured card base using adhesive. Ensure the panel is centred on the card base.

STEP 6

Stamp sentiment text from the stamp set onto separate craft-coloured card strips using black ink.
Watch this step: 53:30 into the show

STEP 7

STEP 8

Decorate the envelope by applying ink through the stencil on both the inside and outside flaps to coordinate with your finished card.
Watch this step: 58:00 into the show

TIPS FROM THE SHOW

- If you are not confident with ink blending, you can splash the area with water and distress it up to create texture.
- The paper shows through the stencil, which gives you lovely detail even if your blending is not perfect.
- Know when to stop faffing with your design—sometimes less is more and you should not overwork it.
