

Inky Blended Background with Boat Stamp Card

27 AUGUST 2026

Create a striking card with an inky blended background panel using water and tissue resist technique, then stamp a boat with reflection. The result is a serene scene with soft colour gradients and a focal point that stands out against the textured background.

From our live show THE THURSDAY DROP - Latest Products from Toni - Broadcast 27th August 2026 (27 August 2026) - watch it from 29:30.

Tear a piece of card stock and position it to create an irregular panel edge on your white card base.

Watch this step: 29:30 into the show

Apply low-tack tape along the edges of your torn panel to hold it in place temporarily.

Watch this step: 30:45 into the show

Blend blue ink onto the card using a brush, starting darker at the top and fading towards the bottom.

Watch this step: 31:30 into the show

Transition into green ink, blending it into the blue to create a natural colour flow.

Watch this step: 33:45 into the show

Spritz the inked panel with water using a spray bottle to activate and spread the inks.

Watch this step: 35:15 into the show

Dab the wet panel with tissue to create a resist effect and lift some colour for definition.

Watch this step: 36:15 into the show

Heat dry the panel with a heat gun until completely dry.

Watch this step: 36:45 into the show

Remove the low-tack tape carefully from the edges.

TIPS FROM THE SHOW

- Don't worry if the blended inks look messy at first—the water and tissue resist will create definition.
- Trust the process when blending inks; it will look better once you add water and heat dry it.
- Use clear embossing powder to seal and add shine to your stamped images.
